SCHOOLS TO BE DISMISSED

Pupils From Schools Will Line
Washington Avenue Between Fifth
Street and Second—Governor
Leaves Harrisburg This Morning

Living up to its reputation for doing things thoroughly, and in a hurry, Charleroi today has arranged a neat celebration for Governor Martin G. Brumbaugh and his party on their trip through here tomorrow afternoon. Governor Brumbaugh will make no stops between Greensburg, where he will have lunch and Pittsburg, where he will remain all night, yet due honor will be paid him and his party of state tourists.

It is expected that the gubernatorial party will arrive in Charleroi at about 2:30 o'clock and plans to this end are being laid by a committee of business men which got busy this morning. Superintendent T. L. Pollock and the members of the school board have consented to have children dismissed early from the schools. These children will line Washington avenue from Fifth to Second street during the passing of the governor and party through town. Greeting will be extended by a party of automobilists, who will be strung along McKean avenue between Second and Fifth street. Every automobile owner in Charleroi is asked to have his machine out and in the procession not later than 2:50 o'clock. For those who come from out of town and wish to join the procession of the governor and party as they wind their way out of town will be asked to line up north of Fifth street so that falling in line will be easy. This will apply to autoists who come from Washington and other points.

Local people will know at what time the party leaves Greensburg, giving time for preparations to be made here. The governor and his party will drive to Belle Vernon over the state road, crossing the bridge there and coming to Charleroi. The local course will be down McKean avenue to Fifth street, up Fifth to Washington and out Washington to Lincoln avenue boulevard and thence toward Bentleyville.

The governor and his party left Harrisburg today. First in line is the pathfinder automobile containing State Highway Commissioner R. J. Cunningham and Chief Engineer Uhler. Next in line are the governor and his personal guests. There are from 90 to 100 in all in the party.

INFORMATION TO BE SENT VOTERS

Commissioners Make Ready Slips to be Distributed in Every Precinct

WILL SHOW ALL CANDIDATES

Within a day or two the slips, as provided for by the commissioners, to give the voters of each precinct information as to who are the nominees in their respective districts, will be ready to be sent out. One or two districts are already printed.

Electors are requested, when they receive these slips, to examine them for any error or omission, and to advise the county commissioners of any mistake. Thus corrections may be made on the ballots for the election in November.

Tie votes are to be determined by lot at the office of the county commissioners on the third Friday after the primary. If a candidate does not appear on that date, before noon, the commissioners are authorized to act for him. Vacancies happening after the primaries are filled in accordance with the rules of the various parties.

If there is any office for which nominations have not been made, the district is instructed to consult the county chairman. Withdrawals from a ticket must be sworn to and filed in writing in the office of the commissioners not later than 12 days before the election.

for Charleroi's share to the Western Pennsylvania relief fund. The check was for the amount of $1,121.79 and was made payable to W. S. Mitchell treasurer of the Pittsburg and Western Pennsylvania commission for relief in Belgium, Mr. Mitchell being located at Pittsburg.

Charleroi collected its share of the fund through benefit schemes and through individual contributions.

BAD CHECKS PASSED BY SUAVE STRANGER

Local Police on Trail of Much Wanted Man—Succeeded
In His Work in Youngstown, Ohio, Sharon,
Monongahela and Charleroi

Police here are on the trail of a stranger much wanted for passing bad checks in Youngstown, Ohio, Sharon, Monongahela and Charleroi. James Maxwell is said to be his correct name, but he has been appearing under the name of John Hall and John Hart. So far as is known just one bad check was passed here and it was for only $5. Maxwell has a well arranged scheme. He poses as a well drilled in each town he enters and always finds it necessary to hire help. Then he ascertains he has to have a check cashed and with his hired help succeeds usually in doing what he sets out to do. He is said to have been particularly successful in towns visited before coming to Charleroi. Maxwell is a man over 6 feet tall, weighing about 210 pounds and wearing a light coat, blue trousers and a checked cap.

MONESSEN INSTITUTE PLANS ABOUT READY

Arrangements Being Made for Annual Gathering of Teachers Beginning Week of November 29--
Gillilan and Fess Coming

Many of the arrangements for Monessen's annual teachers' institute to be held in the high school auditorium the week beginning November 29, have already been made by Supt. H. E. Gress, and a splendid array of talent has been secured both for the night entertainments and day instructions.

The Redpath Brockway Bureau is supplying the lyceum numbers as usual. On Monday evening, November 29, the "Old Home Singers" will appear. This is one of the best national musical organizations and the members appear in costume.

On Tuesday the original humorist, Strickland W. Gillilan, is the attraction. Mr. Gillilan is one of the greatest laugh-makers on the American platform.

Another excellent musical organization, the Schumann Quintette, will appear on Wednesday evening. Dr. L. B. Wickerham, the famous lecturer will give one of his masterpieces on Thursday evening.

The day instructors are hardly secondary in fame and talent to the night attractions. Dr. William D. Henderson of the University of Pittsburg will be at Monessen for the entire institute. On Wednesday and Thursday, Dr. S. D. Fess, congressman, and president of Antioch College, Yellow Springs, Ohio, will be one of the speakers. It is also expected that state superintendent of schools of West Virginia, Dr. Shawkey will be an instructor. Prof. McDowell will lead the singing.

With the new high school auditorium ready to receive the institute and with the increased talent thus secured, it is natural that Monessen is looking forward proudly to the institute. Nowhere in Westmoreland county will there be a program to surpass the one with which Monessen is favored this year.

Star Theatre opened fall season Saturday showing to good audiences. Tonight there will be an entire change of program as follows: "Cash Parrish's Pal," 2 reel Broncho, "Wait and See," American and "Old Mother Gray" Reliance. Admission 5 cents. 94-t1-

DIES THREE DAYS AFTER MARRIAGE

Alexander Labin of Browns

Of Stomach Trouble

WAS A POPULAR RAILROADER

Two days a bridegroom, Alexander Labin, Jr., of Brownsville, died Friday at Silverton, W. Va., after an illness of about one day. The remains will be brought to Brownsville for interment, but no plans for the funeral have been made.

Mr. Labin, who was 23 years old, was married on Wednesday, at Cumberland, Md., to Miss Edna Areford, of Carmichaels. The young couple left for Silverton to spend their honeymoon visiting with relatives of the bride. Mr. Labin had not been well some time ago, but seemed to have recovered from his illness. Thursday, however, he became ill, and, before the true seriousness of his condition had become known, he died a few hours later, on Friday evening. He had complained of his stomach, and it is believed that death was due to acute indigestion.

The first word the parents of the young man, Constable and Mrs. Alexander Labin, of Brownsville, heard of his illness, was through a telegram, which they received Saturday morning, but which had been sent Friday morning. They left for Silverton, and at 4 o'clock that afternoon, a tele-

Farmer Upon Whose Lands Deed

Shortly After Just Removing His
Boots—Wounded Man in Hospital

Returning home from moon hunting Sunday morning about 3 o'clock, Lloyd Ramsey a well known business man of Masontown, formerly of Charleroi and a son of Mr. and Mrs. James Ramsey of Meadow avenue was shot through the muscle of the right arm as a bullet lodging in his chest, said to have been fired by Jasper Bise a well known farmer on the outskirts of Masontown, upon whose premises Ramsey fell victim. Mr. Ramsey in company with S. Cane, also of Masontown had been moon hunting near Gates and were returning home via a lane on Bise's farm when shot. Ramsey fell to the ground and his companion noticed some one about 60 feet in the distance and started in pursuit. When he arrived at the Bise residence, Bise is said to have been removing his boots. Bise denied having shot Ramsey.

A physician was summoned and Ramsey after being attended, was removed to his home and later taken to a Uniontown hospital. His condition was then thought to have been critical but late Sunday evening was reported to have been good. The bullet lodged somewhere in his chest but had not been located Sunday evening.

About 10 o'clock, Constable Alva Jackson of Masontown, arrested Bise and lodged him in the Masontown jail. County Detective John Smith was notified and made an investigation immediately and in company with Constable Dick Woods took Bise to the county jail at Uniontown Sunday evening about 6:30.

Bise at the time of the shooting, according to the officers was under a $500 bail charged with assault and battery upon Hassin Hazi a forger.

ROLLING UP.

Government reports of last month's foreign trade indicate that even if we lost the belligerents $1,000,000,000 tomorrow, it isn't likely that a single dollar of the money would go out of the country, says the Pennsylvanian Spirit. For the tremendous bulk of our export trade is building up the wall of foreign indebtedness faster than credits can be raised here to balance it.

Our favorable trade balance against Europe for the first eight months of 1915 is more than $1,000,000,000. And the month of August was a record breaker. Although imports increased surprisingly, almost reaching the high water mark for that month, the exports increased so much faster that they broke the previous record by $70,000,000 and left a favorable balance for the month of more than $120,000,000.

The country's great crops have hardly begun to move yet, and the conditions trade is still in its infancy. In a month or two the export surplus may be doubled. Twelve months ago it would have seemed downright insanity to prophesy that Europe would go in debt to us to the extent of a billion dollars in 1915. Now we know that by Dec. 31 Europe will owe us, on this year's trading between $1,500,000,000 and $2,000,000,000.

If a woman desires to vote why not let her vote? This is the way a popular question is sometimes put. Surely enough, why not let the women themselves decide. If every voter will make it his business to learn the sentiment of the woman nearest him in kin concerning woman suffrage and then vote according to her opinion Pennsylvanians will come nearest to expressing the true wish of woman-kind on the matter.

Various state departments have acquired the knowledge that newspaper is the very best aid they could possibly secure in carrying out their plans for education of people in the work of the state. Still but few of the departments are getting the least benefit from this knowledge. Dr. Emmet G. Dixon, head of the state department of health is realizing his advantages for publicity as no other head of a department is, and through it has made his department first in the nation. Dr. Dixon's material is always put up in good style, and is never too long. He knows when to stop. If some of the other department heads would study Dr. Dixon's style of composition and profit thereby their "copy" would receive the same eager attention that Dr. Dixon's now does.

Four hundred and sixty miles of experimental postroads of varying types of construction are now being built through the co-operation of the Federal Government. It may be interesting to note the selections of localities for this use of national funds. Nearly 300 miles of these roads are in the Southern States, remarks the Pennsylvanian Spirit. The South which stands at the tail of the procession in front of the tax gatherer's window is at the head of the line before the paymaster's wicket.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

Mrs. Enderly, wife of Judge Enderly, of a small Missouri town, complained one day that she had accidentally swallowed a button which she was holding in her mouth preparatory to attaching to some garment. As the lady was rather given to making great ado over trivial mishaps and as the judge was much pre-occupied, he did not pay much heed. Soon after, however, finding her in tears, he made kindly inquiry as to their cause.

"It's your heartless indifference to anything that happens to me," sobbed the aggrieved little woman. "I didn't suppose you'd worry much because I swallowed a button, but I don't think you might have taken enough interest in it to inquire what kind of a button it was!"

Young housewives ought to practice strict economy and sympathize with the sad experience of a Washington woman.

When her husband retained home one evening and found her dissolved in tears and careful questioning elicited the reason of her grief.

"Dan," said she, "every day this week I have stopped to look at a perfect love of a hat in Mme. Louise's window. Such a hat, Dan, such a beautiful hat. But the price—well, I wanted it in the worst way but just couldn't afford to buy it."

"Well, dear," began the husband recklessly. "We might manage to—"

"Thank you Dan," interrupted the wife, "but there isn't any 'might' about it. I paid the cook this noon, and what do you think? She marched right down herself and bought that hat!"

"I do not agree with you," remarked the thin man who was a fellow passenger.

"What?" exclaimed the fat man. "Then, I suppose, you are one of these speed fiends yourself?"

"No, I am not," replied the thin man. "I am a casket maker."

GERM OF SMALLPOX

Doctor Greeley Claims to Have Isolated Microbe.

Believes They Multiply in Mucous Membrane of Nose at Beginning of Disease and Thence Penetrate Blood Vessels.

Dr. Horace Greeley of Brooklyn reports to the Medical Record that he has discovered the long-sought microbe of smallpox. He found "an apparently identical organism" from the "vesicles of twenty-five cases of successful vaccination, from a like number of cases of undoubted chickenpox, and from five cases of recognized and undoubted smallpox."

From Doctor Greeley's technical description of this new microbe it may be gathered that it is spherical and from 0.3 to 0.6 microns (of 0.000117 to 0.000234 inch) in diameter. It is in the form of multiplying spores, which just before division assume the shape of a figure 8, with a nucleus in each half. These develop into branching masses with spores at the end of the branches.

Doctor Greeley has grown them in cultures. He believes they multiply on the mucous membranes of the nose at the beginning of the disease, and the spores when shed penetrate the blood vessels and are wafted to all parts of the body, "landing in the skin capillaries, where conditions of lower temperature and more light, perhaps, favor further proliferation. In this connection we should remember how the eruption favors the face and hands."

Doctor Greeley concludes that vaccination and variola are identical, the difference being that "vaccination produces a local and at most a lymphatic infection, usually stopped at the nearest chain of glands, and represents the inoculation of an organism directly derived from a different species of animal, and therefore probably of low relative virulence, while smallpox is undoubtedly contracted through the respiratory tract and is due to one derived directly from an animal of like species which, as shown, through spore formation, passes into the blood and is thrown to all corners."

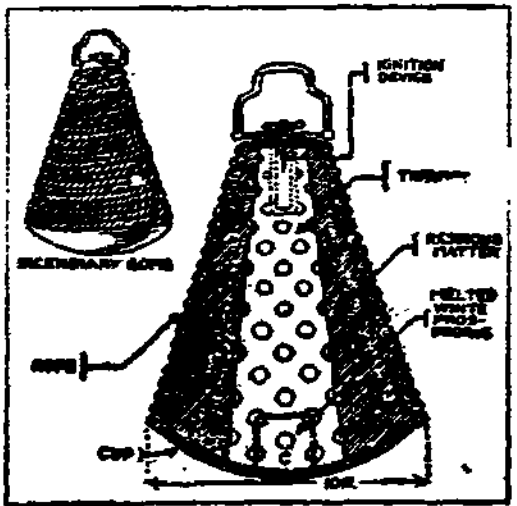

ARE LOADED WITH THERMIT

Incendiary Bombs Differ From the Ordinary Missile in Character of Their Destructive Power.

Incendiary bombs differ from ordinary explosive bombs in that they are intended not to scatter fragments over a wide area, but to produce sudden and intense heat at a given point, thus starting a fierce conflagration.

W. A. Tilden describes in Nature one of these bombs, a picture of which is reproduced here. His description is as follows:

The bomb, as a rule, is conical, of ten-inch diameter at the base, corded round, and has a metal handle at the apex (see cut). The base is a flat cup onto which a pierced metal funnel is fitted, having the ignition device and handle fitted at the top. The funnel is generally filled with thermit, which upon ignition generates intense heat, and by the time of the concussion has taken the form of molten metal of the extraordinary high temperature of over five thousand degrees Fahrenheit. The molten metal is spread by the concussion. Outside the funnel is a padding of a highly inflammable or resinous material bound on with an inflammable form of rope. The resinous material creates a pungent smoke.

There is generally some melted white phosphorous in the bottom of the cap, which develops nauseous fumes. In some cases celluloid chipings are added and occasionally a small quantity of petrol.

Peculiar Effect of War.

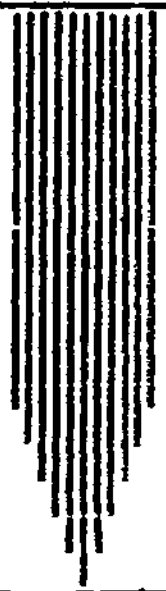

Capt. Eugene Bourassa, a military officer in Montreal, who in private life controls a clothing store, states that the war has caused among his patrons an average expansion of chest measure from 36 to 40 inches. This is true not only of those in active service, but of all the citizens. He explains it on the ground that all the men are mentally and physically preparing for service now or in the future.

Unsentimental.

"Do you understand the language of flowers?" said the sentimental youth. "No," replied Miss Cayenne. "I don't know that I should care to have my conversation regulated by the kind of vegetation that happened to be in season."

When a good salesman goes out after business, he first puts on a clean collar and gets his shoes shined. Then he looks like more business—and he's made a flying start toward getting it.

Likewise, a community can go after more business—and get it. The "clean collar and shiny shoes" of this town are the well-painted stores, the bright, cheery homes, the fresh, clean-looking buildings. The part paint plays in building up local pride cannot be put in figures—but its good effects are recorded on the local merchants' sales sheets. Buy good paint. We recommend

SWISS HOTELS WONDROUS

Stand in Solitary Grandeur, But Learn Nothing That Makes for Comfort of Traveler.

You may climb up the heights by the aid of ladders, funiculars, rocks and pulleys, diligences and sledges, and when nothing but your own feet will take you any further you will see in Switzerland a grand hotel, magically and incredibly raised aloft in the mountains.

It is solitary—no town, no houses, nothing but this hotel hemmed in on all sides by snowy crags and made impregnable by precipices and treacherous snow and ice.

At the great redrawing of the map of Europe, when the lesser nationalities are to disappear, the Swiss will take armed refuge in their farthest grand hotels and there defy the mandates of the concert.

For the hotel, no matter how remote it be, lacks nothing that is mentioned in the dictionary of comfort. Beyond its walls your life is not worth twelve hours' purchase.

You would not die of hunger, because you would perish of cold.

At best you might hit on some peasant's cottage in which the standards of existence had not changed for a century.

But once pass within the portals of the grand hotel, and you become the spoiled darling of an intricate organization that laughs at mountains, avalanches and frost.

ONE OF NATURE'S MARVELS

Great Stone Face of the Pyrenees Has Entranced Artists From All Parts of the World.

There is probably no more remarkable example of natural statuary in the world than the famous stone face of the Pyrenees, in Spain. The elevation stands alone, surrounded by valleys so that the profile dominates the skyline for many miles.

The chin is firmly modeled, while the lips seem to be tightly compressed. The line representing the nose is drawn with a strong bold stroke, giving it a truly Castilian character.

The mountain with this singular contour rises so high above the surrounding country that it may be seen for many miles. It is, besides, modeled on such heroic lines that the appearance of foliage, even the growth of forest, does not alter the lifelike appearance throughout the seasons.

The Moral Life.

Moral principle is not thinking the right thing, but doing it. It is giving 16 ounces to the pound and 88 inches to the yard. It is treating your neighbor kindly. It is not worrying others. There are some people who pride themselves on holding to high moral principle, who are an exceeding, great annoyance to the people they meet. Of all the unprincipled things in this world, making people unhappy is the meanest. Yet there are many people who are sticklers to moral duty, doing that very thing every day. He is a mean thief who will take from another his peace of mind. One man told me he didn't sleep a whole night because of a needless remark a thoughtless friend made to him. There are many people who are such confirmed materialists that they think you can only do harm to a man by hitting him with a club or stealing his chickens. They don't seem to know there is a mental and spiritual world, where all real feeling dwells and where the deepest torture may be inflicted.—Ohio State Journal.

Billet for Every Bullet.

The proverb "every bullet has its billet," is attributed to William M. One of the earliest references to it is in "Tristram Shandy," where Captain Trim says, "King William, of an opinion, an' please your honor, that everything was predestined for us in this world; inasmuch that he would often say to his soldiers that 'every bullet has its billet.' The story was known to Wesley, who records in his 'Journal,' under June 6, 1768, that he traveled with a Lieutenant Cook, who had been in campaigns against Indians, French and Spaniards, and had never been touched. 'So true,' says Wesley, 'is the odd saying of King William that every bullet has its billet.'"

Odd Combination Kills.

Matthew Grissom, solicitor for a New York life insurance company, was burned to death in a peculiar way. He had set a steel trap for a rat, and the night before a neighbor's dog was shut up in the room by accident. The dog upset a can of gasoline, saturating the atmosphere of the room with gasoline fumes.

About four o'clock Grissom was awakened by the cries of the dog, took a light and went to release him. As he entered the room the fumes of the gasoline became ignited. An explosion followed, and Grissom was enveloped in the flames which filled the room, rendering escape impossible.

Art and Appetite.

"Your singing tonight was divine!" exclaimed an enthusiastic admirer to the prima donna. "I could see by the expression on your face and the light in your eyes that you were inspired."

"I fear you are mistaken," said the prima donna, with her most engaging smile. "Our art is so exacting that we don't care to eat a hearty meal before singing. I was ravenously hungry and I was thinking of all the good things I would order when the concert was ended."

FEELS LIKE A NEW WOMAN

As Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Dispelled
Backache, Headaches and Dizziness.

Piqua, Ohio. "I would be very ungrateful if I failed to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound the praise it deserves, for I have taken it at different times and it always relieved me when other medicines failed, and when I hear a woman complain I always recommend it. Last winter I was attacked with a severe case of organic weakness. I had backache, pains in my hips and over my kidneys, headache, dizziness, lassitude, had no energy, limbs ached and I was always tired. I was barely able to do my housework. I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound on one other occasion, and it had helped me so I took it again and it has built me up, until now I feel like a new woman. You have my hearty consent to use my name and testimonial in any way and I hope it will benefit suffering women."—Mrs. ORPHA TURNER, 431 S. Wayne St., Piqua, Ohio.

Women who are suffering from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

ARDEN RAGER MAKES HALF MILE RECORD

Harry Robinson Speeds Around
Course Twice in 63 Seconds—Good
Field of Entrants for Postponed
Races to be Held Wednesday.

What is believed to be a world's record for a half mile race has been made on the Arden track by Harry Robinson, of Washington, who while driving his Haynes Black Hawk which is entered in three events in the postponed races to be held at Arden on Wednesday afternoon, circled the course two times in 63 seconds. This time is remarkable considering that the track is not bank on the curves, being oval constructed for horse racing. While the record of course will not stand, there being no official timer or other conditions necessary for the establishing of a mark, that is to be recorded, it nevertheless is accurate, three stop watches being clicked on him none of which varied more than a fraction of a second.

The track which was thoroughly soaked by the rains of last Friday and Saturday and made the postponement of the races necessary, is drying out rapidly. Motorcycle drivers were on it yesterday and today the entrants in the speed contests for automobiles will commence practicing again. The entries for the local races are without a doubt the best in the history of automobile racing in Western Pennsylvania. The field of starters in the free-for-all follows: Ford, Guy Woodward, Charleroi; Oakland, Christ Lucius, Youngstown, O.; Overland, T. C. O'Rourke, Washington; Maxwell, J. A. Fife, Belle Vernon; Beaver Bullet, George Gardner, Beaver Falls; Haynes, H. L. Robinson, Washington; Haynes, A. Hughson, Pittsburgh; Mercer, E. A. Sharnon; Kline, D. H. Swart, Washington; Ford Eight, Arch Bromley, Washington; Fiat, Charles Kietz, Bellaire, O., and Chalmers, George C. Kratt, Washington. As a result of the postponement of the races, the entry list is open until tonight and it is expected that there may be other starters. The free-for-all is the feature event on the program, being 25 miles in length.

MONESSEN CARPENTER STRONG ON HARD LUCK

Cadwallader Has Suffered Numerous
Misfortunes, His Latest Being Badly Cut Wrist—Loses Fingers
As Well as His Appendix

Emmet Cadwallader, who is known as he champion "hard luck guy" of the Monongahela valley has just met with another accident that will keep him from work for some time. Cadwallader, a carpenter by trade, has figured in more accidents of a serious nature during his lifetime than three ordinary men should, and has proven himself a poor risk for accident insurance.

Last Tuesday evening while chipping at a block of wood his hatchet glanced and caught him on the wrist of his left hand, severing two arteries. Prompt medical attention probably saved his life from loss of blood.

He had only recently left the hospital, having undergone an operation for appendicitis, and a short time before that he had the misfortune to have a finger taken off on a joiner. Two years ago he met with an accident that almost proved fatal when he fell a distance of 35 feet from the roof of the Pittsburgh Steel office. He was confined to his bed for some time before he fully recovered from his injuries.

A year before that accident he was scarred for life when a piece broke out of a turn lathe and flying through the air struck him on the forehead. About seven years ago his series of mishaps began when he had two fingers of one hand taken off in a joiner.

MUCH COAL NOW ON WAY DOWN OHIO RIVER

Saturday Rains Increase Stage to Such an Extent That Million Bushels are Sent South—Other Items of The River.

The early rains of Saturday increased the stage of water in the Monongahela, Allegheny and Ohio rivers to such an extent that by Sunday evening over 1,000,000 bushels of coal was on its way south. The shipments were made by the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke company and the Diamond Coal company collectively. This morning reports were that the fleet is on its way safely, no accidents having been reported.

The Volcano, owned by the Diamond Coal company sank a flat containing 7,000 bushels of coal at Lock No. 5 Saturday, which may prove a total loss. The Volcano had in tow 11 flats of coal and owing to the high water became unmanageable, striking the guide wall of the lock with the sinkage as the result. It was feared at one time that the entire fleet would be lost, but by good boatmanship it was averted.

Work was suspended on the new lock at No. 4 Saturday at noon on account of high water. No loss or damage resulted however and this morning the river was falling and work will be resumed at once.

Flags are floating at half mast today from all steamboats in honor of Capt. Charles Menges, who lost his life during the heavy storm near New Orleans last week, while trying to save a fleet of loaded coal owned by the River coal company by whom he was employed. Capt. Menges was a former Monongahela river boatman and had a host of friends all along the valley.

Might Need Them.
"After de sarmint, t'mor' night, Brudder Simmons," said old Deacon Whang, "we'll is gwine to have a rousin' hazanner meetin', and burn up yo' paragraphs, bless de Lawd!"

"Burn up which, sah?" returned Goat Simmons, the recently converted gambling man, in considerable astonishment.
"Yo' gamblin' paragraphs, sah. When a spotin' man gits converted and washed whiter dan snow day aling burns up his kyahés and dice and sich scandalous stuff as dat midist loud shouts o' praise. De Lawd is wid 'em, and de gamblin' brudder steps fo'th and flings his paragraphs on de fiah and stands with bowed heads whilst—" "Not me, sah! I ain't gwine to do no sich-uh thing!"

"But, muh goodness, brudder, yo am converted. isn't you, and—" "Yassah! I's sho' converted, but dat don't make me a blame' fool! I mought backslide an' need dat stuff!"—Kansas City Star.

Such is Fate.
"He had braved a thousand dangers in the land of savage strangers, war and famine, fire and tempest, epidemics and the rest." (This was in metrical form in the London Chronicle.) "But yesterday at five (and it's lucky he's alive), he was hurt in a collision with a boy on roller skates."

Newer if Not Better.
"Can't you use a less hackneyed expression than 'He hiked for the tall and uncult timber?'" asked the editor. "Well," said the young reporter, "I might say 'He beat it to the forest reserves, where the weeping willows have never had their eyelashes trimmed.'"
